Sports Desk

I am receiving very good letters, and a few interesting telephone calls as well. Two visitors from the Bronx also stopped in this month. We had a very pleasant visit. They proved to themselves that the Duluth game companies really do exist. Doubting the existence of a company way off in the boondocks which makes such sensational games appears to be rather wide spread. Just receiving the games doesn't eliminate that doubt. So for those fortunate enough to be in the neighborhood, a quick trip to Duluth does dispell the notion that somehow BLM, Negamco, etc are just figments of their imagination.

Changes at ASD

The various co-op companies will no longer credit to ASD half of the handling charge on orders which prior to this change went for the purchase of one of four ASD issues (Feb., May, Aug., or Nov.). People who have been receiving ASD on a quarterly basis because of this former policy will no longer receive it. I would appreciate single issue subscribers placing a long-term subscription to ASD now! ASD rates are $4.00 for 24(two years) issues; $5.75 for 36(three years) issues; or $9.00 for 60(five years) issues.

The other day I completed the most exciting league game to date when the New York Mets were handed a perfect game by Jerry Koosman. This is my second no hitter of the season. Nolan Ryan, also of New York, threw a 1-0 masterpiece over the Dodgers in his 1st start of the year. The Mets were in command of Koosman's game all the way, demolishing Philadelphia 8-0. The game was made in the 7th by Wayne Garrett. Wayne had just replaced Ed Charles for defensive purposes. The new 3rd baseman made an unbelievable stop of a ball smashed down the line by Cookie Rojas; throwing the Philly 2nd baseman out. If Charles had remained in the game the fielding ratings showed that he would have drawn an error, thus eliminating the perfect game.

I am in the process of playing the NL 1969 season in progress with '68 ratings by Negamco. I am also using the rookie and fringe players listed in your fine publication. With a 54 game schedule as my ultimate goal, I am about 1/4 of the way through the season.

John Alve, Milwaukie, Ore

The tournament rules can be used in addition to the regular rules. It is best to learn the game using the basic rules. After you understand the game thoroughly you can switch to tournament rules and play.

I. Player Use

1. Use men only for the number of games they actually played as given on team roster sheet under symbol GP.
2. Use players only at position given on their card. If a man has two positions given, such as C-F, you have a choice of either position.
3. Substitution of players is necessary at frequent intervals. (See III. Tournament rule 12-T) Line changes and defensemen can be substituted when there is:
 - a.) a penalty is called and play is dead (Note-Rule V).
 - b.) an infraction is called during board play.
 - c.) a goal is scored.
 - d.) a horn for the end of a period.
 - e.) a team voluntarily ices the puck. (Note-Rule IV)

4. Changes can be made "on the fly", also.

- a.) Team making a change on the 'fly' must have puck control.
- b.) Team making a change on the 'fly' loses the puck to either one of the opposing team's defensemen. The defensemen getting puck must use one spin for board play before icing is attempted. The defenseman also cannot take a shot on goal even if board play indicates this on first spin after getting puck. If shot is indicated he keeps possession and spins for board play again. If team keeps possession and gets a shot chance on next two spins add 5 to the shooter's G numbers.
- c.) Team getting puck because other team changes "on the fly" can ice the puck or continue play as shown in b) above. The decision to ice the puck is simply announced and is automatic. This use is suggested if your skaters need a rest.

II. Special Team Defense Rating

1. Each team has a defense rating on the team roster sheet of either M, P, or E. M means minus, P means plus and E means no change. Add or subtract the rating to the opposing team's shooting ability. For example, if team rating is M3 all G numbers on opponents would lose 3 numbers. If player's G rating is 1-40 on card, it would become 1-37. If team rating was P2, it would become 1-42.
2. The team defense rating has 3 added when the fatigue penalty rule is in effect. (See III.) In example above player's G would become 1-40 and 1-45.

III. Tournament Rule 12-T (Takes the place of basic rule 12)

Do not use basic rule 12; PER playing rule. Instead use the rule as indicated below.

1. Add up PER of all five men on the ice. Refer to PER table below. You have a given # of spins from table this line can use before the fatigue penalty rule goes into effect. Suppose the total team PER for the five men is 48. You count 13 spins before fatigue penalty play begins. (These must be spins which count as time elapsed, See VI). The purpose of the rule is to force changes in your lineup and makes you plan player use like a real coach. (See I.3.)

PER TABLE
Team Player(5)	# of Spins Before Fatigue penalty begins
Per Total
50	15
49	14
48	13
46-47	12
44-45	11
41-43	10
38-40	9
34-37	8
30-33	7
1-29	6

Advanced Pro Hockey Rules

2. Fatigue Penalty Play

When PER SPINS are used up and the same players are still on the ice you must add 1 to opposing team's shooting rate for each spin made until a new line is put in. Each spin is added. If your men have puck control you must try to ice the puck (See rule IV). You may not try a shot on goal. If all PER spins are used up before substitutions are made these players may not return until 15 more spins have been made. If you substitute before using up all PER spins these men can be used again after 6 spins. They must be rested at least 6 spins after being on the ice in any situation.

IV. Voluntary Icing

1. A team may attempt to ice the puck any time it has possession. If a spin is even # the puck is iced and a face-off is called. If spin is odd # the opposing player has intercepted the puck and may continue regular board play.

V. Penalty

When a penalty is called on defensive team player the team with puck may pull goalie and play as follows. After penalty is indicated on defense, pull goalie and spin as usual once, then if puck is still in possession put another skater card on the ice in place of goalie and continue board play as usual except, if the #s 26, 31, 36, 41, 46, or 51 are spun the new player has been passed the puck and he also has a shot on goal. As long as team on offense, when penalty was called, has puck control continue in this way. As soon as puck is lost to defense play is dead and penalty is assessed. Then continue with a face-off, restoring pulled goalie.

VI. Timing

Spins do not count as time elapsed on face-offs, penalty-injury calls, assists determinations, goalie save spins or voluntary icing attempt.

VII. Penalty Shot

Change the Penalty Chart so that #1 is called a Penalty Shot penalty rather than a 10 Minute Misconduct. Then pick your best shooter and have him take his shot, but the goalie save numbers are changed to 10% normal. Thus if goalie is Jack Orange (1-57 saves) is in nets trying to save he would have only 1-6 save numbers on penalty shot. The spins on penalty shots do not count as time elapsed.

VIII. Pulling Goalie at Game End if Behind

Use same procedure as given in V. on use of extra skater for goalie. Of course if other team gets puck and shoots to score you do not have a chance for a goalie save. Also you should add 10 to any shooter's G numbers.

IX. Rule 2 and 3 basic game change

If goal shot is no good or if goalie made a save use table to determine who gets rebound. If offense gets rebound then player gets a shot chance without going to the play board, until defense captures puck on rebound. If goalie gets puck then you must have a face-off.

Spun #	Player Getting Rebound Shot
1-10	Defensive Goalie
11-20	Defensive LDM
21-30	Defensive RDM
31-44	Defensive Center
45-57	Defensive RW
58-70	Defensive LW
71-78	Offensive Center
79-86	Offensive RW
87-94	Offensive LW
95-97	Offensive LDM
98-100	Offensive RDM

X. Face-offs can be determined by calling one team odd & other team even. Then one spun number determines who gets puck. Your choice of player to give puck to as board play begins.

The Mail Sack

The Mail Sack is composed of letters and letter-orders plus, at times, appropriate comments and answers by ASD's editor to questions posed by the correspondents. Contributing letters to this section, at this time, are: All Sports Digest, BLM, and Negamco.

(From ASD)

I have followed with interest John Leitgeb's tales of woe about his 1964 White Sox. Nowhere do I find a statement of whether he used exact lineups as taken from the Sporting News, or elsewhere. If he did not, perhaps the problem with his replay was that he was always facing the opponent's top three pitchers, or that the opponent's, playing fewer games, had fewer injuries.

I plan to replay the 1968 Washington Senators and they figure to do poorly enough without running into the difficulties suggested above. How do you suggest dealing with these problems?

Robert C Storey, Jr., Annapolis, Md

(Ed) You are cautioned not to fall into this trap. That is why I suggest using the real-life lineups although you need not do so if you are familiar with the teams and players and do not always pit the best men against your team. I think John used real life line-ups.

(From BLM)

I am tremendously pleased with your BLM Football game and am eagerly awaiting my 3rd edition of cards. A friend and I, although our devotion to your game is limited by studies and summer jobs, are engaged in replaying the 1967 NFL season. We use the optional defensive ratings instead of ace cards. Although we only record the games scores and team records, we have shared many dramatic, fictional gridiron confrontations, many forever to be remembered with pleasure.

Thank you for not just a good football game, but a great, truly professional game.

Steve Ehresman, Rossville, Ind.

(From ASD)

As this is my first letter to your paper, let me first congratulate you on your very interesting publication, and BLM and Negamco on their very fine games.

Several of the fellows on my dormitory floor had a very exciting draft league in the weeks just prior to finals last spring, using BLM Baseball. But although it is an extremely realistic game in most respects, we noted several apparent glaring weaknesses. For example, with the average runner on third with two out, and the average batter facing the average pitcher, the runner would have a better chance of scoring by attempting to steal- with somewhere around 40 chances of success than by hoping for a hit, only about a 25 to 30 percent probability. Or, with a pitcher like Joe Gibbon (PC- P14, MOB- M16), it would seem wise always to intentionally walk the first batter he faces. Would you comment on situations like these.

Another question deals with the mail leagues; how are the games conducted in view of the many decisions, probably averaging in excess of one per batter, that must be communicated as the game progresses?

Although, I have mentioned mostly BLM in this letter, commendation is also due Negamco for publishing what I believe to be the best game for the money one can find.

Gary Williams, Columbia, Mo

(Ed) 1) Yes, you're right. You attempt to reduce the SB chances by shifting your infield, and using a no wind-up delivery. 2) Intentional Walks do not allow the pitcher to go to his MOB rating. You continue to use the PC until a bat-

(From BLM)

In the realm of lobbying for specific products will you be expanding your famous teams of the past in baseball further? I am particularly interested in the 1920 Indians, the 1919 Browns. I had the '20 Indians with an old APBA set, and immensely enjoyed working with that team because of its rather intriguing make-up. Also has the possibility of rating individual great players of the past for ASD consumption been explored? (ie: Kiner in his big home run year, Wagner when he hit .424, Williams when he hit .409, and soon). I would think it would be relatively painless, particularly with hitters, and would be most enjoyable.

Mark E. Tompkins, Columbus, Oh

(Ed) BLM will be producing more famous teams soon and all game fans will be notified. ASD did print individual players in the past, and we hope to begin this feature again--and soon!

(From ASD)

I find your paper quite interesting and informative. Right now I'm in the process of playing the 1969 National League Schedule and I need those rookie ratings. As of this moment the Cubs are a head of Pittsburgh in the East by 6 1/2 games; while Cincinnati leads San Francisco by 1 1/2 game. I don't know if I'll be able to finish the season, but I'll play as many as possible.

I enjoy reading your paper and hope that you will run more numerous tips on table games.

Roscoe B. Dixon, Jr., Chicago, Ill

ter gets on base by a hit, error or regular base on balls. 3) Usually only "home" managers play the games. "Away" managers furnish their team's lineups in advance. "Away" managers can play along if the Random Number books are used and Starting Points are given prior to the game to both managers- usually after line-ups and starting pitchers have been assigned!

Hockey League Forming

I am forming a hockey league consisting of draft picks from both the Eastern and Western Divisions. Each team will play about 50 games. Each member will play 25 home games for his team. Only dedicated players please. If interested write: Warren Wesson, 40 Highland Ave East Haven, Ct 06513

I would like to form a baseball play-by-mail league, using Negamco, BLM, APBA, or Strat-o-Matic games. They will consist of eight teams which will be split into two divisions. These teams will play a 54 game schedule ending in a championship series and all-star game. We will begin play with the 1969 edition. Each owner will play his home schedule. The teams will include 6 pitchers, 8 regulars, and 5 subs. If interested, write: Paul Moots, 209 Terrence Dr., Bellefontaine, Oh 43311

Now forming: Negamco Pro Golf league. Members must own 1969 set of golfer cards. Tournament schedule will be short enough to allow all members to play their tournaments in spare time. If interested write to: George Adams Jr., 110 Mowry St., Danville, Pa 17821

Anyone interested in joining a NBA basketball league using the cards based on the '68-'69 season send your first 5 preferences (teams) and it will be on a first come, first serve basis. Please don't write unless you plan to play out the full schedule keeping certain statistics. I plan to have a very successful league. There will be a league newspaper free to all members. APBA, Negamco, PTG and BLM games accepted. Write to: Scott Bell, 720 S Jones Blvd, Las Vegas Nev 89107

Anyone interested in joining a hockey league write to Jeff Kaplan, 9172 E. Eastman Pl., Denver, Co 80222. The league will supply cards and schedules. Complete stats will be kept.

Anyone interested in joining a mail hockey, using the 1970 edition of Negamco Hockey (1968-'69 season) please write, Charlie Eshbach, 691 E Pleasant St., Amherst, Ma 01002
